Un Tanguito Cualquiera
Choreographer: Breton Tyner-Bryan and Catherine Correa
Dance Artists: Breton Tyner-Bryan and Catherine Correa
Music: Danza Transilvanica by Boris Kovac and Ladaaba Orchestra.
Costume Design by: Catherine Correa

Set in the 1930’s “Un Tanguito Cualquiera” explores the tension and frustration of romantic relationship between two women. Serving as a voice for the female experience, conversely with no attachment to gender identity, we explore the unglamorous aspects of living and love told through the style of film noir.

Breton Tyner-Bryan is a Dancer, Actor, Choreographer, and Photographer, as well as a highly sought after Teacher. She holds a BFA in Ballet Performance from the University of Utah and received her training at the School of the Hartford Ballet. Film and television credits include Studio City, Director Meredith Danluck, Manhattan Love Story (ABC) choreographer. Celia Rowson-Hall, Second Wind Director Sarah Choi, TEST (Feature Film) director Chris Mason Johnson, and PICO director John Sanborn. Breton has performed in works by Marius Petipa, Kirk Peterson, Alonto King, Robert Moses, Pontus Lidberg, Norbert De La Cruz III, Francesca Harper, Kathryn Luckstone, many dance theater companies, Hartford Ballet, and Utah Ballet

THE DASH ENSEMBLE

INTER/MISSIONS
Choreographer: Gregory Dolbashian in collaboration with The DASH
Dance Artists: DASH Ensemble (different artists everynight)

Gregory Dolbashian came together with his DASH Ensemble to explore the idea of contemporary dance inhabiting the entire lobby of the Sheen Center. With extreme physicality and vibrant personality, the work pushes the limits of traditional performance, bringing its audience very close into a world of intense relationships and daring movement. Each night of the performance in the lobby simply provides an insight into the movement and theatrical world of The DASH and acts as a connection between the pieces and the artists.

The DASH Ensemble is a New York City based contemporary dance group founded and directed by Gregory Dolbashian. Combining elements of modern, hip hop, floor work and physical theater Dolbashian has created his own unique style of contemporary dance with an urban flair. The DASH seeks to bring out relatable human elements in all of its work using its complex and challenging movement language to express ideas about growth, love, loss, war, and determination. With a group of six incredibly diverse artists both in style and cultures, Dolbashian pulls from the specialties of each artist to help create the fusions of styles that the DASH exhibits. These skills range from breakdancing, flexing, contemporary floor work, intricate partnering, and even a touch of classicism.

CURATIVE POWERS
Choreographer: Ada Cacciatore
Collaborators: Maria Lucia, Edoardo Biancardi and Marco Rigamonti.
Dance Artists: Ada Cacciatore, Andrea Frisano and Laurel Richardson.
Music: Ludovico Einaudi & Mauro Durante "Taranta " Officina Zoe "Don Pizzica"

In this performance I want to represent an original combination between taranta and contemporary dance, a duet of love, hate and jealousy, characteristic of a young couple who struggle with their love traditions. The bite of the spider itself, is an excuse to get rid of depression and suffering of love, the convulsive movements that goes with it, justify their behavior followed by the healing process.

Ada Cacciatore is a dancer, performer and choreographer from Italy. She began her professional dance training under the direction of Margherita Parrilla at "Accademia Nazionale di Danza" in Rome, where she received her degree. She continued her study at "The Ailey school" where she completed her Independent Study Program. Ms. Cacciatore has performed works by many choreographers including Adriana Borriello, Max Luna III, Donald Byrd, Darshan Singh Bhuller, Amaury Lebrun, Lakay Worrell, Sidra Bell, Nicola Iervasi and Stefanie Batten Bland. Currently, she is a choreographer/teacher at Asbcompany under the direction on Sônia Melo and resident choreographer at Gloom Dance Project under her direction and Beatrice Rocchi.

LABIR INTO Excerpt
Choreographer: Caterina Rago
Dance Artist: Caterina Rago
Music: Ludovico Einaudi

The labyrinth is a disorienting journey that leads within, hiding the most mysterious self. An inner maze that is projected outwardly. A complex path that never seems to end. The maze is a figurative representation of abstract and intriguing reality. A trip over the limits into a dimension yet to be explored. A journey that will transport you from the darkness to the light. The maze is in man! He is forced to explore it to find himself, the center, the core of his being.

Originally from Italy, Caterina Rago obtained her B.F.A. from l’Accademia Nazionale di Danza in Rome. She completed the Professional Training Program at Martha Graham Center. In 2009 she joined the Martha Graham Dance Company in "Clytemnestra". Principal Dancer of the Off-Broadway Show "Spider Dance", directed by Jeff Whiting. She toured in Italy in the original cast of "Cercando Picasso", with the Martha Graham Dance Company and in "Baccanti" and "Prometeo". Rago officially founded the Caterina Rago Dance Company in 2007. She is Guest teacher in numerous dance centers in Italy and New York City.

a-SymMetrics
Choreographer: Alexandra Amirov
Dance Artists: Caitlin Bailey, Camilla Davis
Director of Photography: William H. Watkins

a-SymMetrics, a site-specific dance-on-camera piece. Assisi Italy, March, 2015

"Assisi, Italy; commitment, dedication, search, struggle, purity, authenticity of oneself, of internal depth, and the depth of space. Goal: Dissect and put back together. Portray a sense of depth and three-dimensionality."

Alexandra Amirov founded Amaris Dance in 2012. The company has performed in a wide variety of venues, including the La MaMa Club, Dixon Place, Green Space, Movement Research, Spoke the Hub, and The Alley CitiGroup Theater. In 2012, she won the Director’s Choice Award from the Gowanus Arts Center for her piece, Black Cuts Body. The following year she received the Best Choreography award from Hunter College for her piece, Shi’vah. Alex has been teaching dance since 2008 in NY, NJ and LI.

DANZE ROTTE... nella bolla di Pasolini (BROKEN DANCES... in the bubble of Pasolini)
Choreographer: Benedetta Capanna
Video: Mauro Raponi
Music consultant: Vittorio Giannelli
Dance Artist: Benedetta Capanna

Rome, between exclusiveness and exclusion, city which first praises you and then abandons you, it is the ideal place where one’s ardent solitude is given a meaning and perhaps where it finally passes away. It is a walk through the everyday of Roman life, inspired by one of the greatest Italian poets and intellectuals: Pasolini.

Benedetta Capanna, in her career as dancer and choreographer toured extensively in Europe, North\South America and Japan. In Italy she has received residency and grants for several productions collaborating with many composers and visual artists. She worked as choreographer in productions for the Teatro Diana of Naples, for the Teatro Colosseo in Rome and Teatro Poltach. She collaborated with the Academy of Arts in Rome. She has been choreographer and dancer for the welcoming of Prince Harry at the Maxxi and guest choreographer for the presentation of Video Centres on Italian dance. Since 2013 she collaborates as choreographer with the Dance Company Excursus.

Prayer is a short solo that was meditated and conceived at a particular time in the life of choreographer (Carla Vannucchi). Beyond faith, it is a reflection about parenting, specifically on maternity, that is externalized and exalted not only in the moment of conception but also in the moment to let your child go beyond your own will. It is a tribute to all the mothers who survive their children and then keep on going with the feeling that they still hold them in their arms. The strongest image that the choreographer has worked on is the Pietas of Michelangelo, not so much for the sculptural form, but mainly for the emotions that it brings forth watching, and the images of the nativity and Madonna from the masters of the Middle Ages up to Giacomo Manzu.

Carla Vannucchi graduated in Science of Sport Education and in Pedagogy at Bologna University, she improved her dance techniques in Rome at “Danza Prospettiva”-Vittorio Biagi and “Centro Professionale Danza Contemporanea”-Elsa Piperno and in New York (Alvin Ailey School, Laban Centre, Merce Cunningham Studio, Limón Foundation, Movement Research and Nikolais Studio). She spent her career as dancer, assistant choreographer, maître of contemporary and ballet techniques in Germany, Netherlands, Switzerland, Austria (Liz King, Ismael Ivo, Marcia Haidée, Itzik Galili, etc.). In 1997 she founded “Formazione Danza”; in her work as a choreographer there is a fusion of various dance techniques with the traditions of butoh and tanztheater. The solo ‘Frida Portrait’ commissioned and created for Kitty Lunn / Infinity Dance Theater - was premiered at Joyce in May 2009.

Vanessa Tamburi worked as a solo dancer for important European theaters (the Ballet of Montecarlo, the Hamburg Ballet and the Vienna Opera Ballet). Over the years, she developed experimental work, melding dance with theatre, visual and multimedia arts. Her choreographies have been performed in Austria, the Czech Republic, Italy, Rwanda, Uganda, Tanzania and the United States. In 2007 she established the "FLUSSO Dance Project". She is the Artistic Advisor of the Visa 2 Dance and Time2dance dance festivals in Tanzania and the Artistic Director of IDACO nyc. Since 2011 she lives and works in NYC. She is an associate artist of New York Live Arts.

POWDER MOVEMENT SEQUENCE
Choreographer: Christian DeLuna Zuno
Collaborator: Marcello Agudo
Co-Cinematographer and Editor, Alex Hanini Co-Cinematographer
Music: How to Dress Well - "& it was you"
Dance Artists: Christian DeLuna Zuno, Kayla McFarlan, Holly Sass, Stacey Yuen

The project come about as a collaboration between NYU students in the department of Film and Dance. Here the dancers were encouraged to interact and explore their own physical structures and/or with one another.
The powder was used as counterpart to the physical rhythm and to show an outside element from the dancers.

Christian De Luna Zuno is a Mexican born dancer and a New York based artist. He completed the BDC's Summer Internship, and has recently graduated from New York University's Tisch School of the Arts with a B.F.A. in Dance Performance. Christian completed his degree as an Honors Graduate and thanks the Tisch Dean's Scholars and Gates Millennium Scholarship for their full financial support on his undergraduate career. While at NYU he performed repertoire by Nathan Trice, Charlotte Boye-Christensen, and Crystal Pite. Christian has performed as a member of Colorado Springs Dance Theater, Seventh Project and Ballet Hispanico's second company (BHdos). He has been featured in ads in Dance Magazine and Dance Spirit Magazine.

ALESSANDRA GIAMBELLI + DANCERS

ONESELF
Choreographer: Alessandra Giambelli
Visual Designer: Francesco Izzo
Music/Composer: Telefon Tel Aviv, Jon Hopkins
Dance artists: Elise Ritzel, Claudia Germuga

The idea of the project is to record excerpts of the dancer's life during the months prior the performance, to show how all the memories and facts of a dancer's life affect the performance itself. All the material will be gathered in a sequence to be projected while the dancing is happening in order to create a "conversation" between the dancer and the projection. Because an artist brings on stage all the experience she/he had until the performance, allowing him/her becoming oneself with the piece.

Born and raised in Italy, Alessandra Giambelli is the Founder, Artistic Director and Choreographer of Alessandra Giambelli + Dancers. Her works have been presented at The Alley Citigroup Theater, The P erfomance Lab, Greenspace Blooms, The Dance Gallery Festival and at The Boston Contemporary Dance Festival. Giambelli is a faculty member at The Alley School teaching Ballet and Horton technique. She also taught masterclasses at Syracuse University (NY), Manhattan Movement Arts Center (NY), M.A.S (Italy). Since her arrival in the United States, Giambelli attracted prestigious choreographers and artists such as Nick Cave, Alonzo King, Manuel Vignoulle, Maurya Kerr, Robert Sher-Machherndi, Norbert De la Cruz III and Bennyroyce Royon as mentors as collaborators. She performed with the Nomad Contemporary Ballet, BODYART Dance Company, Nathan Trice Rituals, Lydia Johnson Dance and Benjamin Briones Ballet.

ME-CHANICAL # moving images
Choreographer: Vanessa Tamburi
Multimedia Artist: Tracy Collins
Music edited by: Vanessa Tamburi
Props by: Tracy Collins
Dance Artists: Alexandra Isaeva – Nile Baker

The piece explores the relationship between man and machines. Machines influence us and often replace our body and spirit, modelling against our freedom as human beings, the very essence of our personality. The projected life ME-CHANICAL's moving images are the result of the collaboration with the multimedia artist Tracy Collins.

Vanessa Tamburi worked as a solo dancer for important European theaters (the Ballet of Montercarlo, the Hamburg Ballet and the Vienna Opera Ballet). Over the years, she developed experimental work, melding dance with theatre, visual and multimedia arts. Her choreographies have been performed in Austria, the Czech Republic, Italy, Rwanda, Uganda, Tanzania, and the United States. In 2007 she established the "FLUSSO Dance Project". Dance Artists: Christopher Ralph, Elena Valls, Isaies Santamaria Perez, Lauren Santos, Lilja Ruriksdottir, Gregory Dolbashian
Music/Composer, if any: Clams Casino, Olafur Arnalds, and Swod

The RE-UP is an ever-changing performance piece by The DASH. It contains elements of previous works mixed with current ideas based on the circumstance which it is performed in. The piece is consistently being “re-upped” and refreshed by its creators.

The DASH Ensemble is a New York City based contemporary dance group founded and directed by Gregory Dolbashian. Combining elements of modern, hip hop, floor work and physical theater Dolbashian has created his own unique style of contemporary dance with an urban flair. REFLECT-I-ON

Lyrics & movement: Sara Galassini
Life Musician: Yukio Tsuji
Music Composition: Sara Galas Band
Artists: Sara Galassini, Yukio Tsuji

REFLECT-I-ON is an original music-dance-theatre performance created by the Sara Galas Band. The project is a work in progress exploration of the inconsistency and oppositions of human behavior, personal power and the four bodies of existence. Yukio Tsuji’s acoustic improvisations fuse the Band’s compositions with movement and text by Sara Galassini.

In 2012, actor/singer songwriter Sara Galassini and composer/musician Yukio Tsuji form the Sara Galas Band. A dynamic Duo whose eclectic sound takes root in the tradition of Italian music but creates rhythmic and melodic motifs that belong to the world of jazz, rock, reggae, bossa nova, tango, flamenco and folk music. They have performed in NYC Lounges and Theaters (Karma Bar & Lounge, Alphabet Lounge, Japan Society, Nightingale Lounge, LIC Bar, La MaMa, Cafe’ Vivaldi, Dixon Place, Ballaro’, the Nuyorican Poets Cafe’, Ella Lounge, the Great Hall at Cooper Square), at the Spoleto54 Festival and the Fringe Festival in Umbria.

Music/Composer: Zeno Gabaglio, Niton
Dance Artists: Alessia Della Casa, Carmen Caceres.

With kind support from the Consulate General of Switzerland in New York.

IN-MOBILITY is a multidisciplinary performance that explores movement and the absence of movement respectively in dance, photography and music.

Dance as a flow of movement leaves no trace of itself but the in intangible moment in which it happens. Photography as a witness represents a static instant which has passed. Music as a composition of sound and rest, evokes movement and stillness. Originally from Switzerland, Alessia Della Casa studied at the Ballet Academy in Riga, Latvia. In 2009 she moved to New York and received a scholarship at the Cunningham Studio. In New York Alessia danced for various NYC based artists and started developing her choreographies, her work was presented at various Festivals both in New York and Switzerland. From 2013 she is the founder and artistic director of the festival Ticino in Danza.

"Zonton" by Enzo Celli, from the ancient Greek Living, is the new performance choreographed by Enzo Celli for VIVO Ballet. "Zonton" celebrates life and the deeper meaning of it. It celebrates the life that stubbornly proceeds at the expense of human jokes, of mediocrity, of human baseness. "Zonton" celebrates the weaknesses that can be transformed into virtues, it celebrates those people who allow love to forge themselves. "Zonton" is the abandonment to the beauty that will save the world.

Experimentation and research are the key to the interpretation of Enzo Celli’s work. In 2013 Igal Perry has asked Enzo Celli, Ohad Naharin, Dwight Rhoden and Sidra Bell, to create new work for Peridance Contemporary Dance Company. Below are some of the choreographer’s most important works and collaborations: In June 2006 he was one of the choreographers of the event “L’amour et son amour, l’uomo che danza e la sua aspirazione”, performed by Roberto Bolle, Vladimir Derevianko and Viviana Durante at Todi Festival; in June 2006 Botega Dance Company, together with Alvin Ailey Company, Béjart Ballet, Bolshoi Ballet and Staatsballet München, he joined at the Dance Gala “Amores”; in 2008 Enzo Celli collaborated with the Russian Drama Theatre; and performed at the Na Strastnom Theatre in Moscow. In October 2008 performed “Subway” at La Cigale Theatre in Paris. In 2010 he was a guest at the Erfurt Opera House (Germany). His latest work, Giselle, debuted at Auditorium Conciliazione in Rome with fifteen minutes of applause in November 2014.
